Cause Of Disaster Unknown

Blaze Kills 108 Czech Coal Miners

PRAGUE (AP) — Fire broke out in a Czechoslovakian coal mine in the Carpathian Mountains Friday night killing 108 miners, the official Czech news agency Ceteka reported.

The cause of the disaster is unknown. It occurred at the Duka mine in the Ostrava Karvina coalfield.

Ceteka said the fire spread rapidly. Rescue teams were rushed to the scene from the entire coal basin. They battled the blaze until the early hours this morning.

"In spite of superhuman efforts to save the trapped men, 108 miners lost their lives," the agency said.

The mine is in the town of Dolna Sucha, about 50 miles south of Ostrava, one of the larger towns of the Moravian section of Czechoslovakia.

Ceteka said representatives of the Czech Communist party central committee and government officials are at the disaster scene. The agency gave no further details.

The area in which Friday's disaster took place is the most important coal producing section of Czechoslovakia, accounting for about 80 per cent of the country's coal needs.

Ostrava, a city of about 200,000 close to the Polish border, also is the center of the Czech steel industry.

The outbreaks occurred during the first day of open opposition political activity permitted by the successors of the dictator.

President Joaquin Balaguer had pledged more freedom and political reforms after Trujillo's assassination May 30.

The Trujillo backers, carrying a huge picture of the dictator, marched on DPM headquarters a few hours after a mob attacked and burned the pro-government Radio Caribe.

DPM members, armed with guns rushed out against the invaders and destroyed the picture. Police and firemen rushed to the scene.

Police called the attack a "little reprisal" for the anti-Trujillo demonstrations.

The fresh outbreak came after an estimated 8,000 students, workers and women armed with lighted candles rushed from a political rally at Colon Park and attacked Radio Caribe.

Police fired into the mob of stone-hurling invaders and drove them off, but the radio station, set aflame with gasoline, burned down.

At least six persons were wounded and some 20 arrested. For three hours before starting their rampage, the demonstrators listened to speeches at the rally.

The government promptly warned that drastic steps would be taken against opposition groups if an investigation disclosed Communist and Cuban agents were involved in the disorder.

Balaguer said political freedom will be respected but any groups

4 Killed By Lightning Bolt At Army Site

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Four young Army recruits undergoing basic training died violently as a bolt of lightning struck a tree and ricocheted into a group of soldiers at a remote rifle range on the sprawling Ft. Benning military reservation.

Fifteen other soldiers were injured and taken to Martin Army Hospital Friday.

The victims were identified late Friday night by the base PIO as: Melvin C. White, Jr., 18, of Macomb, Ga.; James E. Whitaker, 20, New Paltz, N.Y.; Billy G. Casebolt, 17, of Ford's Branch, Ky., and Donald Dinardo, 18, of Pittsburgh, Pa. They were pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

None of the 15 soldiers admitted to the hospital is believed to be seriously injured, the PIO said.

The group of about 20 soldiers was receiving instruction in rifle training when a sudden summer thunderstorm came up. The recruits suspended the training and were seeking shelter when the bolt splintered the tree and ricocheted into their midst.

Officers and noncommissioned officers in the field immediately began to administer first aid and

Dictator's Followers Begin Lashing Back At Opposing Forces

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Fighting broke out Friday night as Trujillo supporters struck back at leftists who staged the first anti-government demonstration in the Dominican Republic in 31 years.

Followers of slain dictator Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo invaded the headquarters of the opposition Dominican Popular Movement, wrecked the furniture and set the building afire.

The clashes erupted in the center of the capital.

The outbreaks occurred during the first day of open opposition political activity permitted by the successors of the dictator.

President Calls Resort Confab

Meets With Aides On Berlin Question

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy began a second summer weekend today at his vacation home on the shore of Nantucket Sound with a discussion on Germany and Berlin with three of his top diplomatic and military advisers.

Kennedy's chief press spokesman said the meeting should not be considered "either a crisis or an emergency meeting."

Rather, said Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, it is one of a continuing series of meetings on Germany and Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military representative, will meet with Kennedy both ashore and afloat.

After conferring for about an hour at Kennedy's summer home, they were to board the cabin cruiser Marlin for lunch and further talks expected to last until mid-afternoon.

Salinger said today's conference had no bearing on the reply of the Western Big Four powers to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest pronouncements on Berlin.

The reply, Salinger noted, already has been drafted. It is being sent to Paris for a final check-over by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization before being sent to Moscow, probably late next week.

Khrushchev has declared he intends to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany at the end of this year. This is viewed by the United States and its allies as a move to oust the Western powers from Berlin.

The Western powers reportedly will reiterate their firm stand on their rights to West Berlin, but at the same time leave the door open for further negotiations.

Kennedy flew here Friday for the weekend on Cape Cod. Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy children, Caroline, 3, and John Jr., 7 months old, already were here.

Kennedy expects to remain here until Monday morning. Mrs. Kennedy will accompany him back to the capital, but the children are expected to remain for most of the summer.

U.S., Soviets in Angry Exchange

Test Ban Talks Near Dead End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. authorities think the latest angry exchange of charges between the Soviet Union and the United States indicates the Geneva negotiations for a nuclear weapons test ban may be at a dead end.

Officially, however, the United States is asking the Soviet Union to breathe new life into the negotiations that have dragged on for almost three years.

In Moscow Friday, the Soviet government accused the United States of trying to "justify, in the eyes of public opinion, the resumption of nuclear tests."

The United States fired back a charge that the Soviet Union was dodging the central issue of the negotiations—"Whether the Soviet Union is now willing and prepared to reach an accord which would halt nuclear weapons tests under effective international controls."

The United States called on Moscow to reverse its position and "join the United States and the United Kingdom in their determined efforts to bring an end to the testing of nuclear weapons."

George Pacurar, 45, of 1516 S. Lincoln Ave. suffered abrasions of the right elbow and a possible back injury when the car in which he was a passenger was struck from the rear by a truck at 12:55 p.m. Friday at the Lisbon Rd. grade crossing on Rt. 45, just south of Salem.

Pacurar, who was not hospitalized, was a passenger in a car operated by Herbert Baumgartner, 75, of Lisbon. The State Highway Patrol said Baumgartner slowed down at the crossing and was struck from the rear by a truck operated by Lloyd Herbert Bailey, 29, of RD 3, Salem. Both vehicles were headed south.

Bailey was cited for failure to stop in an assured clear distance.

3-Car Collision

A Warren mother and her 10-year-old daughter received minor injuries in a three-car accident at 9:45 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Rt. 45 and the Calla Rd.

Edith Hecker, 44, suffered a whiplash injury and Janet Hecker, 10, a bruised left knee. Neither required treatment.

They were passengers in a car driven by Kenneth W. Hecker, 45, of RD 3, Warren. The Hecker's car and one operated by Henry Hoover, 72, of Youngstown had stopped behind another auto making a left turn when a car driven by Robert Luther, 20, of Verona, Pa., failed to get stopped. It crashed into the rear of the Hecker's vehicle which, in turn, was knocked into the rear of Hoover's car.

Luther was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Larry B. Morris, 21, of Leetonia escaped injury when his car went out of control and broke off a telephone pole on the Teegarden Rd., three miles west of Rt. 45, at 1:45 p.m. Friday.

Morris told the patrol that he was crowded off the right side of the road by another car which was not identified.

Council, Mayor In Agreement On Financing Method

In a surprising display of cooperation and compromise at a City Council "committee of the whole" meeting last night, an agreement between Council and Mayor Dean Cranmer was reached which should start the wheels rolling again toward construction of an overpass at the W. State St. railroad crossing.

A solution to the question of how to finance the city's estimated $65,000 share in the proposed $1,300,000 project, an issue that has been hotly debated at several meetings, apparently has been found.

The city will pay its share of the project with revenue from the city income tax.

Six of the seven council members verbally agreed to this method of financing after receiving a pledge from Mayor Cranmer that he will "sign and support" an income tax ordinance that would renew the present one-half of one per cent tax which is scheduled to expire Dec. 31.

Only Councilman Fred Koenreich, chairman of the finance committee, objected. He favors financing the city's share through bonds, instead of the income tax.

May Pass Consent Ordinance Tuesday Night

Council's next step is to pass an ordinance calling for the city's consent to cooperate with the state. A special meeting has been called for 6 p.m. Tuesday to do this.

This will pave the way for the city's re-application for a $45,000 federal loan to finance the engineering planning and sub-surface testing at the project site.

The mayor did make one reservation which was accepted by Council. He said he would support the income tax if it is written in the ordinance that all annual revenue from this source in excess of $150,000 be used to pay off the overpass debt until it is retired.

The $150,000 figure is the estimate made by tax officials of what the city income tax should yield in one year. Since that estimate was made, however, tax officials have said that unemployment may reduce actual income to a much lower estimate.

Mayor Cranmer has indicated he believes that when the final collections are made, the total income for 1961 from the tax may be well over the estimated figure.

Since income from the 1961 tax is already budgeted for other projects and is committed 60 per cent for general fund operations and 40 per cent for capital improvements, it was agreed that if the total take is over $150,000, 40 per cent of the excess will go toward the overpass.

The mayor seemed satisfied with the arrangement since it now means that the drive for the overpass project which he has spearheaded can get rolling again.

Council, which all along has insisted that it was no less interested in the overpass than the mayor, was pleased to get the assurance from Mayor Cranmer that he would support a new income tax ordinance.

Mayor Vetoed Income Tax Bill Last Year

Council last year had to override the mayor's veto to pass the current income tax which was levied for one year.

Council earlier had indicated that it intended to renew the income tax, probably in December. However, there was some strong feeling that if the mayor would choose to veto this tax again, Council would not attempt to override him this time.

Although the city is not in a healthy condition financially, councilmen have pointed out that it would be in much worse shape if it were not for the income tax.

City Treasurer James Criswell interjected a note at last night's meeting which helps point up the city's current financial situation. He told Council that the city may have to borrow money to meet the city payroll at the end of this month.

To the public, Council's decision last night means that Salem should get its long-awaited and much-desired overpass. With the railroad, state and federal governments now apparently "in the mood" to go ahead with the project, Salem's financial share in the total construction is probably as low now as it will ever be.

It also means, however, an extension of the income tax. There is no way to tell how many years it will take under the proposed setup agreed upon last night by Council to pay off the city's share of the overpass project. Estimates have ranged from two to five years.

Council President Michael Schuller pointed out last night that if income from the city tax failed to reach the $150,000 mark in any one year, some of the money taken in would still have to be used to make annual payments on the overpass project.

Koenreich Favors Public Vote On Bonds

Fred Koenreich, chairman of the finance committee, was the only council member who did not vote to go along with the idea to use income tax money for the overpass project.

Koenreich pointed out that in order to get the money agreed upon for the city's share in the project, bonds would have to be sold and these would be paid off as the income tax money is made available.

"I would be tickled to death if it could be taken care of by the income tax but I am not going to be a party to obligating the city any further than it is right now," Koenreich remarked. "I don't want to gamble," he added.

Instead, Koenreich said he would prefer to let the people make the decision by voting on a special property tax levy for the project in the November election.

Mayor Cranmer told the group that he does not believe people would vote for a one-mill levy to be put on their property tax for one year in addition to having to pay the income tax.

On this contention, the mayor got strong backing from Councilmen Carl Abe and Arthur Hanna. The "gamble" that Koenreich

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

You Have to Have What It Takes

We might as well face it; we must build some pretty sturdy strength into ourselves if we expect to live very successfully in this difficult world.

Walter Hampton, the great Shakespearean actor of a generation back, once was asked what in his opinion was the greatest sentence in the English language. You would expect he would have quoted something from Shakespeare or another giant of English literature. But instead he gave the following from an old negro spiritual: "Nobody knows the trouble I've seen! Glory Halleluiah." — the triumphant praise-giving of one who knows that through God he has what it takes to handle any trouble that comes along.

Some people go along for years well favored by kindly circumstances. When such is the case they ought to thank God fervently every day for the way life has treated them. But sooner or later just about every human being gets hit some sort of blow. And when that happens, if he doesn't have what it takes to take it, the blow will rock him and may even crush him.

So it is good insurance to build up strength within yourself against life's potential blows. This inner strength or resistance quotient is called by various names — character, guts, manhood, self-respect, faith — but by whatever name, it is a priceless ingredient in the human personality. People are called upon to stand up to some very demanding situations and if they possess a dynamic force with which to meet these they are fortunate indeed.

SOME YEARS AGO I knew a man who experienced a lot of trouble in the form of family sickness and other adversities. But he never seemed upset and always appeared imperturbable.

I asked him how he could take his many troubles with such control and good spirit. His reply impressed me greatly: "I was taught to put money in the bank or in investments against a rainy day. In similar manner I was taught to put faith into myself so the needed strength would be there to draw upon if the demands were heavier than usual." Quite an idea: that of putting strength into your personality like putting money into the bank! Those who are provident enough to do that find it does indeed pay off.

Recently I was inspired and thrilled in talking once again with a man whom I first met years ago when he was just a youngster not yet out of college. This boy had been engulfed in an appalling family catastrophe. His mother had died some years before, heartbroken over his father's dissipated life. The father, an improvident playboy, persisted in a life of riotous, reckless living, getting himself deeper and deeper into debt, and bad reputation. One night after a drunken party, speeding on a highway he overturned his car instantly killing himself and his companion — a woman of ill repute.

THIS HAPPENED when the boy was in his junior year at college. His inheritance: a mass of debts, a family reputation thoroughly discredited in the small town where he had grown up, and the responsibility for two small sisters and a little brother. Some weeks later I happened to be visiting in that town and at the request of mutual friends called on the boy to see if I could be of any help. I found him in a state of deep dejection and humiliation, but as we talked he revealed a reassuring force of something deeper:

"I have the simple faith that God will help me," he said. "So I have resolved that I am going to raise my sisters and brother and raise them well. And I am going to rebuild our family's reputation in this town no matter what it takes or how long."

I KNEW THEN that I was looking at a man-sized person. So I said, "With God's help you can do it. Go to all your creditors and tell them what you have just told me. Tell them it may take you a long time, but you will pay back every cent. Ask them to believe in you and to give you a chance. I do not think they will turn you down. People appreciate a real manhood when they see it."

The slight youth of that day is now a man of forty-five and his hair is prematurely white. But he has accomplished what he set himself to do. And was he crushed and broken by his difficulties? Far from it. He is a happy man, respected and held in affection by the people of his community. He is happy in the knowledge that he who puts his trust in God and conscientiously does his best develops strong inner resiliency and has what it takes.

A far cry from the forty-niner with his pick or his pan. This man listens through earphones for the clatter of exploding atoms.

Otherwise, he must follow the tortuous path of the prospector. Uranium, like gold, is where you find it . . . high on a cliff . . . deep in a chasm . . . anywhere.

There are spiritual riches to be found in life—by those with the determination to seek them. But don't make the common mistake of assuming that one Sunday in Church should satisfy the search.

Spiritual riches come gradually with religious growth. As a family makes worship and religious study part of everyday living, the treasures of God begin to accumulate in the character and experience of that family.

You'll probably be disappointed if you merely give religion a try. But your earnestness will be rewarded when you make Christianity the foundation of your life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

County Planning Needed

The Columbiana County Mayors Association has made it known that it intends to ask County Commissioners to organize a planning commission on a county level.

The petitions to the commissioners are expected to come from at least four municipalities in the county which already are benefitting from planning boards within their own corporate boundaries. Salem is one of these.

The mayors and other officials in these communities have seen the fruits of adequate planning and feel that suburban and rural districts in Columbiana County could be served well by a county agency.

We think the mayors are right. Proper planning and zoning in the county would eliminate much of the haphazard growth which is quite apparent in certain areas and which could continue because there is no real comprehensive plan or pattern for the county's development in the years to come.

Even back in 1957 Columbiana County commissioners rejected the idea of joining Mahoning and Trumbull Counties on a proposed regional planning set-up because, as they said at that time, they preferred one on a county basis.

Mahoning and Trumbull Counties, meanwhile, proceeded with their own county regional commissions whereby they, individually, would be eligible for federal aid in proper planning and development.

What has happened in Columbiana County? Nothing!

But it's still not too late to start.

Pricewise, Our Finest Hour

There always has been this baffling irony about the finest hours that men have experienced—that they didn't know it at the time.

How many Americans realize this is their finest hour, pricewise?

This is the instant in a lifetime when prices are stable and wage rates are climbing.

This is that rosy vision of the perfectionists when all of us who are working are inching up a notch or two on the hog, eating higher all the time.

This is that despaired of respite from trouble when there isn't anything to worry about, pricewise.

Viewers with alarm do not have to be worried about inflation.

Economists staking their reputations on predictions do not have to warn the public about runaway prices.

LOOKED AT in long perspective, this will be one of those placid, glassy pools that men will yearn to see again if they pass this way—the kind of a quiet, reflective place that they will dream about.

Along with the way, prices are caught and held in a beam of economic sunlight is the way employment continues to rise like a summer sun, getting bigger and brighter by the minute.

If it weren't for the way unemployment continues to rise, too, like a cloud bank coming up in the West as fast as the sun rises in the East, perfection could be acclaimed. Even so, a notion persists that something must have gone funny about employment-unemployment bookkeeping and that unemployment totals at best are only statistical projections of how many people would take jobs if they could be counted, not how many are actually unemployed.

But is not this climax of perfection the beginning of deterioration? Perfection itself can be only one instant in time. What happens next?

THE MOST HOPEFUL say there is going to be more of the same stability in 1961, to be followed by a boom in 1962.

In either event, uncertainty becomes the prospect. If there is too much of the same stability, prices might start to fall, and that would be deflation. If a boom begins in 1962, prices will go up again, and that will be inflation.

Stabilization is what everybody wants, or says he wants, and stabilization is now, present tense—our finest hour, pricewise.

Sylvia Porter, the lady economist who reports these things so engagingly, says the Consumers Price Index may not rise as much as 1½ per cent for the whole year of 1961 and might even rise less than that.

Never has economic Nirvana been so near. Let all who have dreamed about it take a deep breath and sigh, "This is it—the moment we've been waiting for!"

Revisiting the Garst Farm

The last time we had heard about the Roswell Garst farm was in a session of newspapermen complaining about mismanagement of news coverage the day Soviet Premier Khrushchev visited it, Sept. 23, 1959. That seemed a frivolous waste of time because most newspaper readers thought Khrushchev and his host had more than enough coverage that day.

But now a Russian journalist who spent a few days on the Garst farm this year—Garst made his fortune in hybrid corn—has directed attention once more to this famous spread at Coon Rapids, Ia. He has annoyed farmer Garst by accusing him of low pay. This, retorts Garst, isn't true. The Russian journalist, he explains, made the mistake of citing occasional day labor pay at $1.10 an hour ($1.70 on Sunday) and ignoring the farm's salaried personnel.

No matter how many changes mechanized farming has made for the better, it wasn't too long ago that working on a farm in the good old summertime was a privilege almost worth paying for, provided the meals were up to snuff and the bed was good. Workers used to thrive on a routine that began soon after sunup and ran out soon after sundown.

The work wasn't easy, but on the contrary it wasn't hard, as work in a coal mine was, or in a shovel gang in town. The air was fresh and free, the water was cool, no one left the table hungry and no one had trouble going to sleep.

That part about sleep; that was special. From 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. was eight good hours—enough for anybody. On Saturday night, it might be a little later at both ends, but there wasn't anything else to do when the work was done.

In the course of the years, millions of men worked on farms for small pay and large rewards in health and peace of mind. Like the happy poor who didn't know they were poor, farm help was downtrodden labor that didn't know it was downtrodden. It still doesn't, especially if the lady of the house runs a good kitchen.

Rah, Rah, Rah!

Of course we're prejudiced, but we've always thought that our Salem Senior High School cheerleaders had it all over other schools' cheering sections when it came to charm, poise, beauty and exuberance.

Adjudged "the most outstanding" among other high school cheerleaders in a clinic held over the weekend at Hartland, Mich., the Quaker lassies have brought new honors to themselves and Salem High. Congratulations girls!

Once Over

Declaration of Independence as it might appear to be understood by autoists on a holiday weekend:

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for the people to dissolve ordinary rules of human behavior and to assume the powers and methods of self importance, a swift look through the windshield impels them to declare the cause which brought about the switch:

We believe these truths to be self evident—that all men are created equal up to the time they set hand on a steering wheel and a foot on a gas pedal that they are endowed with certain inalienable rights and that among these are contempt for life, safety-first commissions and a reasonable pursuit of happiness.

We believe that to secure these rights, rules are instituted among men deriving their just powers from Detroit, undermanned police departments, the national VIP complex and the desire to beat the other fellow by ten seconds that whenever any form of conduct becomes obstructive to free exercise of dangerous driving and impatience, it is the right of tourists to abolish such restrictions and institute their whims, impulses, and discourtesies.

We hold that there is no sense in enduring laws, however sensible and long respected, when arrogance is hampered on the open road and that it is the right of the people to throw off such forms and write their own rules, driving "no-hands."

We therefore declare that autoists are and ought to be a free and ruthlessly independent people and should be absolved from injustices imposed by speed limits, roadside warnings, red lights, caution signals or carbon in the motors. For this we pledge our support, our arrogance and our low license plate numbers, while still doing 60 per hour in a 30 mile area.

Trouble In Paradise

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

Premier Khrushchev recently allowed himself to forget about Berlin for a while and addressed himself to repeating, with certain variations, his now familiar boasts about the material progress made by the Soviet Union, and his conviction that Russia would "catch up" with America quite soon—1970 is the current D-day.

If Mr. Khrushchev means that Russia is shortly to lead the world in physical might immediately applicable to warlike purposes then, with reservations, he is right.

If, however, Mr. Khrushchev means that the Russians will shortly surpass all the world in the amenities of 20th century life, such as they are, then he is on very much less sure ground.

We allow ourselves to be dazzled too much by the Sputniks and other wonders of applied science.

This was an inevitable reaction. For years after the war the Soviet Union was in a terrible state: Millions of her people went hungry and unshod; millions more were doing forced labor.

Things began to get a little better even in Stalin's time, and after Stalin there was a great leap forward.

FOR SOME YEARS, however, there was a time lag in Western appreciation of what was happening.

The first Sputnik and the first jet liner took people quite by surprise. After that, opinion swung the other way: A nation which could achieve the Sputniks could achieve anything. No doubt it can, but has not done so yet.

In the provincial towns and in the villages, apart from the introduction of cheap electricity for lighting purposes, life is very much what it was in the bad old days. The economy of the country as a whole is still very marginal.

Material progress may or may not be important; certainly it is no disgrace, it may even be a virtue, for a nation to lag behind the great industrial societies of the West.

To measure human happiness and prosperity in terms of television, cars and refrigerators, strikes me as being vulgar in the extreme, and I would rather the Russians set the Americans and ourselves an example by thinking in quite other terms.

It is they, however, who asked for their society to be judged in terms of steel and gadgetry.

By their own measuring-stick the Soviet Union is, in fact, nothing so far advanced as Mr. Khrushchev insists, though moving forward fast. There are islands of poverty in the United States but Russia is still a poverty-stricken land with only islands of prosperity.

IF THE SOVIET UNION is really doing as well as Mr. Khrushchev pretends, there are some very curious anomalies. Not least is the present condition of the satellites.

For some years, under Stalin it was a Soviet policy to exploit the satellites. After the Polish defiance and the Hungarian uprising in 1956 this policy was changed. Instead of taking, Russia started giving, and conditions of life in Central and Eastern Europe began to improve, hand in hand with the improvement of the Soviet cities.

During the last year this policy has been reversed. There has been a very sharp fall in living standards in the satellites. There is food rationing in East Germany; there are food queues in Hungary and Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria has been going through a major governmental crisis.

Russia is not helping. It is demanding repayment of its $280 million loan made to Hungary after the 1956 troubles. The East Germans have been told that they can expect no imported food to make good their shortages, and that they must work round the clock for survival.

There are particular and local reasons for all these setbacks. But in the end they all lead back to the Soviet Union which, if Mr. Khrushchev's boasting is well grounded, should be strong enough and rich enough to succor its allies.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

When all the news is "bad," as we are reminded it is by doleful spiels on television, I am reminded by my years in the newspaper business that news is still geared to the man-bites-dog formula, which accounts for its "badness" in that otherwise turns out to be a good fair world, if you look at the bright side.

Whenever the proposition is made that baseball attendance is off and therefore the owners must be hurting, I wonder why nothing ever is said about the income from television rights and how many customers it represents on the gross income report.

Remembering the big push some years ago for a safe and sane Fourth of July to protect kiddies from high explosives, I cannot understand why parents seem so indifferent to the dangerous things the kiddies do now, such as racing one another at speeds reaching 100 miles an hour on public roads.

I am prepared to learn one day that the mass riots which break out periodically at beaches and festivals are no more spontaneous than the riots that occurred a while back in Tokyo, though I doubt that they are Communist-inspired. I think rioting may have become a fad among some of our rowdier teen-agers.

The thing about James R. Hoffa that intrigues me is his frank purposefulness. The man always tells what he intends to do in blunt language, instead of concealing it in high-flown double-talk—and this, I suspect, is the secret of his success as leader of the biggest union and the power and money perquisites thereof.

The Gallup Poll, I note with interest, has learned what everybody has been aware of for a great many years, that the public knows no more about civil defense in this country than birds know about social security. I suspect the confusion in this respect is shared by our civil defenders.

One of the made-up names of our time that always throws me when I see it in print is "Indochina," which I always try to pronounce as if it were "In-dochina," a place no one ever heard of before.

The bright spot on summer TV this season is "Playhouse 90," bringing back to all who enjoyed them some of the worthwhile plays television produced before it drifted into noncontroversial morality plays in which the good guys wore white hats and the bad ones wore black hats and always were punished in the end.

The era we live in is full of wonders that make my eyes pop, but the poppiest wonder to me is something we see frequently from our hillside in Rosy Fingered Dawn—a high-flying jet flitting its vapor trail from horizon to horizon at such tremendous speed that a watcher must move his head to keep track of its supersonic passage.

My favorite quickie quip of the moment is about the sky pilot who told the flossie he had been praying for her and she replied, "Whynt ya give me a buzz; I'm in the book."

By this time, I presume, union policy-makers must have detected what is only beginning to filter through the awareness of others—that the Kennedy administration objects to the Taft-Hartley Act not because it is too tough but because it isn't tough enough.

A thought that bemuses me more often than I wish it did is that much of what we think of as progress is not progress in any provable way. That is, it represents no net gain in the comfort, security, or challenge of our lives.

Advice to Parents

Summertime is a happy time for everyone, children and adults alike. This time of the year adults take vacations and children live for the glories each day holds.

Summertime can also be a sad time, when parents are lax in supervising their children. Wake up, Parents. Small children playing on sidewalks or in unfenced yards, unattended, can suddenly dart into the street. Result, a dead or badly-maimed child.

You say it can't happen here. I disagree. It can happen anywhere at any time when children are not watched. In the last three years I have had a few personal experiences of this nature. In each case, the parent was somewhere the children weren't and also could not see the children. Some were hanging laundry, some were visiting, some were upstairs, and others were in the basement. In each case the children involved were 2 to 5 years of age.

On my last experience of this nature, the child's mother probably thought I spoke rather harshly to her that day. If so, good. She, as well as others, needs to be awakened. Her baby could have been badly hurt, or even killed.

If a few harsh words will save a child's life or keep it from getting maimed, I'm for giving out with them. If it will awaken a parent's responsibility, I am for it.

Give the children a chance.

Back Down On Berlin?

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Wartime Agreements Binding In Controversy

Signs are coming over the international horizon that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is not ready to force any sudden end to the debate over the future status of Berlin. It may go on for years.

Indications from Communist diplomats in London are that the Soviet dictator wants a summit conference in October or November next before he reaches any decision.

This is but another way of saying that he might be content with a few official communiques on Berlin or with a stalemate, which is what he fostered in the four-power conference at Geneva two years ago.

Maybe the Soviets are beginning to see the weaknesses in their argument. For if the Soviet contention about Berlin is correct, then the Western Allies, too, can at any time it suits them reopen all wartime agreements.

International law has long recognized the principle that, when nations sign an agreement, it is binding upon all of them and cannot be altered by one party in disregard of the will of the others.

Moscow may not like it, but to apply its own rule would justify a re-opening of the wartime understandings whereby Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia were incorporated into the Soviet Union.

Each of these countries was an independent state before World War II. They have a right to self-determination. They are today colonies of the Soviet government.

Despite all the pious observations by the Communists concerning "colonialism" in Asia and Africa, there are flagrant examples of a disregard of the right of self-determination right at the backdoor of the Soviet Union itself.

One of the unfortunate aspects of the whole controversy is the tendency in some American quarters to concede that the wartime agreements concerning Berlin are not based upon firm and explicit understandings. In some quarters this is merely a way of starting a chain reaction toward appeasement through negotiations.

But the record bears out that the United States and its allies obtained broad rights in Berlin and are entitled to respect for those rights today by the Soviet Union.

Perhaps the most interesting documents on the whole subject are those furnished in a book by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, who was a participant in all the big-power conferences from 1945 to 1949 — at Potsdam, Washington, London, Paris, Moscow — at which the agreements concerning the disposition of former German territory were arranged.

GEN. CLAY was deputy military governor of the U.S.-occupied Germany in 1945 and 1946, and commander of U.S. forces and military governor of the U.S. Zone in Germany from 1947 to his retirement in 1948.

elections and voting procedures, congressional re-districting, personnel management for state employees, hospital and research facilities at Ohio State University, public utility rate procedures and administrative changes in the Public Utilities Commission.

As chairman of this committee, I have had the opportunity to observe closely the work of your state representative, J. Warren Bettis. You will be pleased, I am sure, to hear that he had distinguished himself as one of the outstanding first term members in the House.

He has been faithful in attendance at committee meetings, has worked diligently on the subcommittees to which I appointed him and has been effective in his presentations on the floor of the House.

He has been especially cooperative with me in my responsibilities as committee chairman. Columbiana County should be proud of the legislative record of Representative Bettis.

Noise Disturbs Patients

My thanks to the mayor and the police who have acted to reduce the noise of automobile horns, cutouts and excessive speed in the vicinity of Salem City Hospital.

As a recent patient there, I can attest to the outside noise which retards patients' recovery.

I would suggest that the city erect larger signs near the street approaches to the hospital, clearly illuminated at night, and a concerted effort by police to arrest all violators.

Ervin C. Busch, 394 Rea Drive.

In his book, "Decision in Germany," published in 1950, he says: "It is interesting to note that all of these documents accepted a common occupation of Berlin and yet no one of them contained any guarantee of access or specific provision for truck, rail and air right of way."

"This omission was not accidental and had been discussed with our representative on the European Advisory Commission by Robert D. Murphy, Ambassador Winant in London believed that the right to be in Berlin carried with it right of access and that it would only confuse the issue to raise it in connection with the agreement."

"He felt strongly that it would arouse Soviet suspicion and make mutual understanding more difficult to attain. He believed it possible to develop a mutual friendly understanding in which differences would disappear."

If there was any doubt about what was meant by the agreements, it was resolved in 1948, when the Soviets instituted a blockade of Berlin.

Rail and highway traffic was stopped at the border but the Allies broke the blockade with an airlift into Berlin and insisted upon their rights.

Gen. Clay was in the midst of this controversy, which led to negotiations in Moscow and Washington, and finally all restrictions were removed and the previous situation was restored.

THE UNITED STATES has adhered firmly to its position ever since. Emphasizing the continuity of American policy, President Kennedy, on June 28, issued a statement in which he said:

"The 'crisis' over Berlin is Soviet-manufactured. The Soviets illegally blockaded the city in 1948 and lifted the blockade in the spring of 1949. From that time until November 1958 — almost a decade — the situation in Berlin was relatively peaceful. . . .

"In November 1958 the Soviets began a new campaign to force the Allied powers out of Berlin, a process which led up to the abortive summit conference in Paris in May of last year.

"Now they have revived that drive. They call upon us to sign what they call a 'peace treaty' with the regime they have created in Eastern Germany.

"If we refuse, they say they themselves will sign such a 'treaty.' The obvious purpose here is not to have peace but to make permanent the partition of Germany."

The Western World is not going to accept the theory that a party to an agreement may alter it at any time without the consent of the other. To concede such a principle is to invite chaos in the world.

Hence Berlin means more than a mere debate concerning who should or shouldn't govern a particular region.

It's a question of the obligation of allies who fought a war together to decide in unity what should or should not be done. For sacrifices were made by the West as well as the East.

Tribe Breaks Four-Game Losing Streak With 9-0 Win

Latman Blanks Chicago for 8th

Kirkland, de la Hoz, Phillips Star In Victory; Grant Meets Chisox Today

CLEVELAND (AP) — Unbeaten Barry Latman likes his new role as a starting pitcher, but Cleveland manager Jimmie Dykes says he still intends to call on the big Californian for plenty of relief work.

Latman scattered 10 hits — nine of them singles — as he shut out the Chicago White Sox 9-0 Friday night for his eighth straight triumph. It snapped a four-game losing streak for the Indians, who had been held to one run and 15 hits during that span. It was Latman's second straight start after being used in relief in 25 games. Can Be Real Good One

"He can be one of the real good ones," said Dykes of the 25-year-old right-hander. "He's always had the arm. Now he has the confidence and smartness to go along with it."

Latman won six of his final eight decisions at the close of the 1960 season. His teammates call him "shoulders" and right now he's carrying a big pitching load on his 6-foot-3½, 205-pound frame.

"When I came here last year, Barry was throwing too much slow stuff," said Dykes. "He used to fool around out there on the mound." Now he just pumps and fires, without any frills.

"He'll get at least two days rest after that game," the manager said. "Sure I'll keep starting him."

"Barry's a great guy to have in the bullpen, though. He has a rubber arm and can get ready in no time. About three pitches after I point to my shoulders to the bullpen for this guy, he lifts his hat to tell me he's ready."

Beating the White Sox and Al Lopez was especially satisfying for Latman, because that was the team that traded him to Cleveland at the start of the 1960 season for Herb Score, who now is in the minor leagues.

de la Hoz Drives In Three

Latman wasn't the only Cleveland hero as the Indians temporarily shook off their batting slump. Mike de la Hoz drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double in the eighth inning when the Tribe scored six runs. Willie Kirkland belted his 11th homer, a two-run shot in the fourth frame.

And Bubba Phillips, one of Cleveland's steady players all season, was inserted in the cleanup No. 4 spot and responded with a pair of hits and two runs batted in.

Cleveland tallied a run in the first inning—ending a 23-inning scoring drought—on singles by Johnny Temple and Jim Piersall and Phillips' sacrifice fly.

Phillips beat out an infield hit leading off in the fourth and Kirkland followed with his blast over the right field fence. That made it 3-0 off loser Ray Herbert (6-8).

Don Larsen was the victim of the eighth inning rally. Singles by Temple and Phillips and doubles by John Romano and de la Hoz were the big blows in the uprising, but a double error by Chicago shortstop Luis Aparicio opened the gates.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant (7-2) will face the White Sox' Juan Pizarro (4-2) today.

Emphasis on Offense At Browns Camp

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—The emphasis has been on offense with the pass receivers taking the bows at the Cleveland Browns' three-day quarterback school which winds up today at Hiram College.

This year's crop of rookie receivers has been tagged as the best looking in many a year. The standouts have been Bobby Cressino and John Brewer of Mississippi, Billy Gault of Texas Christian, Charley Ferguson of Tennessee State and Dick Lage of Lenoir Rhyne.

Defense hasn't been entirely neglected during the preliminary workouts due to the presence of several 230-plus pounders. One of them is Dick Grecni, who starred at Ohio University last season.

Grecni will go to the college all-star camp from here, but will try to oust veteran Vince Costello from the linebacking spot when he returns later this month as the Browns open their regular training camp.

Costello, also a graduate of Ohio University, has been tutoring Grecni, a 232-pounder, for several seasons and strongly recommended that the Browns draft him.

Ailing Ty Cobb In Hospital for Check

ATLANTA (AP) — Baseball's "Georgia Peach," Ty Cobb, is in fair condition in a hospital where he is undergoing a checkup.

Cobb, 73, was re-admitted to Emory University Hospital June 5 for the checkup and possibly a change in treatment for a diabetic condition. He has been hospitalized several times during the past two years for treatment of bursitis and a spine injury suffered some time ago in a hunting accident in Idaho.

Cobb, who hung up his spikes in 1928 after 24 years in major league baseball, has been dividing his time between Georgia and California where he has extensive interests.

Yankees Grab Lead; LA Trips Tigers 4-2

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's one heckuva parlay, but the New York Yankees are back on top in the American League race because the Los Angeles Angels have cast off their castoff label with a seven-game winning streak — and what might have been a record home run spurge.

Those fallen Angels, on the rise out of the deepest cellar of the AL ever has had, dropped the Tigers more ways than one Friday night knocking them off 4-2 on Steve Bilko's tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning and spilling Detroit to second place.

Bilko's shot, off Terry Fox, the Tigers' previously unbeaten relief ace, and a ninth-inning home run by Earl Averil gave the Angels 27 homers in 15 consecutive games. That had been the record AL total from 1941 until last month—when the Yankees bettered their 20-year-old mark by crashing 29 in 15 games.

The Yankees did some belting of their own Friday night, clobbering the Boston Red Sox 14-3 on 16 hits for their third straight success.

Baltimore took two from Kansas City, 6-2 and 5-0, and gained a tie for third place with the Cleveland Indians, who walloped the Chicago White Sox 9-0. Washington defeated Minnesota 3-0.

Right-hander Ken McBride (8-5) won his third in a row with a seven-hit job on the Tigers. Elston Howard drove in four runs, three with his third home run in two games, and Bobby Richardson and Roger Maris each knocked in three runs for the Yanks. Bud Daley (7-10), the former Kansas City southpaw,

Mile Branch Moves Into Third Place

Lincoln Machine Cops 7th Straight In 'A'

Lincoln Machine rolled to its seventh victory in a row as it edged the Spartans, 3-2 to hold onto first place by one and a half games over second place Italian Club who copped its fourth win in a row by dumping Sheely Furniture & Appliance, 8-4 in two of four Class A encounters played at Kelley Park Friday.

In other battles Mile Branch moved into third place with a 7-0 whitewash of the Alliance Amvets and Theron's IGA blasted Old Dutch, 12-6. The loss for Alliance dropped the Amvets nine into fourth place, three and a half games off the pace and one game back of Mile Branch.

The Spartans forged into a 2-0 lead in the first frame over the Lincoln aggregation on triples by Morlan and Meissner and a single by Cosgrove. These three safeties are all the losers could muster of Bill Panzott, the Lincoln Machine hurler.

THE LEAGUE-LEADERS came back in the third inning to tally three runs on a triple by Stefane and singles by Bill Pauline and Panzott. Bill Crookston reached base on an error, one of three committed by the losers.

Pacing the five-hit attack of Lincoln was Pauline with a single and a double in three trips to the plate. Bowersock took the loss for the Spartans while Panzott captured the win, fanning six batters.

A two-run homer by Jerry Menichelli powered the Italian Club into a 2-0 first inning margin. The winners, who never trailed in the game, scored in every inning but the sixth in taking the win.

Sheely's moved to within two runs of the Italian Club nine, 6-4 after four frames, but could not overtake the second place aggregation.

Pacing the Italian Club to victory was Menichelli with a perfect night at the plate going four-for-four. He racked up half the winners' hits.

FIVE SHEELY PLAYERS collected one hit apiece for the losers. Six Sheely errors aided the Italian Club triumph.

Tom Ehrhart received the win and P. Lipp was handed the defeat.

Mile Branch got back on the winning trail, after two consecutive losses, as J. Cranston cracked a homer in the first inning to send the victors into a 1-0 lead and start the wheels rolling for a win.

The winners pounded out four tallies in the fifth frame on four singles and two errors.

J. Cranston led the Mile Branch attack with two hits and was followed by eight teammates with one safety each.

Krabill hammered a triple, to feature for the losers who garnered only three hits off of the Mile Branch pitcher Wyss. Don Moulin was credited with the loss.

Theron's rapped out 14 hits in sailing to its victory over Old Dutch. Pacing the winners' attack were Jack Morris and Stanley with three hits apiece. Stanley collected a homer and a triple for the winners.

THRON'S JUMPED OUT to a 3-0 lead in the first frame and never fell behind as four Old Dutch miscues helped the winners to an easy win.

Old Dutch moved to within one tally of Theron's in the second inning, 5-4 but the Theron's onslaught was too much for the losers.

Lease and Ingledue punched out two hits in the Theron's attack. Talbot with two singles showed the way for the Old Dutch nine.

Palmer Sets 275 to Cop British Open

BIRKDALE, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer today set himself a four round target of 275 in next week's British Open golf championship—a total that is eight strokes less than Australian Peter Thomson's winning score over the same course seven years ago.

"That's the total I think will be needed to win," said Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., after three days of practice.

Palmer and Gary Player of South Africa, the reigning United States Masters champion, are favorites in a field of 369 golfers from 19 countries. Fifteen of the entries are from the United States. Most experts think this year's British Open will develop into a battle between these two.

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds pushed their winning streak to eight and padded their National League lead to five games Friday night by sweeping a two-night double-header with the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers 11-7 and 4-1. They did it before a record NL night-game crowd of 68,742 at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Reds Nine Ahead of Giants

That shot Cincinnati 9 games ahead of the third place San Francisco Giants, who lost 3-2 to St. Louis. The Pittsburgh Pirates beat Milwaukee 6-5 and Chicago's Cubs whipped Philadelphia 9-3.

The Reds came from behind in the opener, going ahead 4-3 on a two-run homer by Gene Freese in the third inning off Dodger ace Sandy Koufax (11-5) and then piling up four unearned runs in the fourth after a two-out error by Frank Howard. Rookie Ken Hunt (9-4) gave up three runs in the first inning but beat the Dodgers a second time, with relief help.

Freese Homers For Reds

Freese also homered in the nightcap, after the Reds had nailed Stan Williams (8-8) for two runs in the fourth. Bob Purkey won this one for an 11-4 record.

The Cards won their first under new manager Johnny Keane by coming from behind with two runs in the ninth. Relief ace Stu Miller (6-2) was the loser while Lindy McDaniel (4-3) won it in relief.

Pittsburgh also came from behind in the ninth, on a two-run error by Felix Mantilla that beat Warren Spahn (8-11) in relief. Rookie Al McBean won his first after Hank Aaron belted in all of the Braves' runs with a pair of homers off starter Harvey Had-dix.

Initial Golf Classic Aug. 24-27 At Akron

An "honorary contestant" category has been added to the American Golf Classic's rules of eligibility, it was announced today.

For the Classic's initial presentation at the Firestone Country Club in Akron, Aug. 24-27, three of golfdom's greatest stars will share the spotlight with Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Gene Littler and nearly 100 other leading golfers.

Selected for this distinction in the Classic's inaugural year were Akron's own PGA Hall of Fame member, Denny Shute of Portage Country Club and Clevelanders r.s. Billy Burke, the 1931 U.S. Open champion and Henry Picard, the 1938 Masters and 1939 PGA champion.

In addition to creating the "honorary contestant" category, both the 1960 Ohio Open and the 1961 Ohio Amateur champions have been invited. Frank Stranahan of Toledo is the 1960 Ohio Open king while the Amateur titleholder will be decided on this weekend at the Inverness Club in Toledo.

D. W. Smith, Salem Manager for Ohio Fuel, said almost a mile of new pipeline — eight inches in diameter — is being laid along Main St. in Canfield from east of Palmyra Road to west of Broad St. Increased demands for natural gas made the work necessary, Smith said. The new line replaces a section of existing smaller diameter line.

Wirt & Starn Inc. of Wooster is making the replacement for Ohio Fuel. Work is expected to be completed about Aug. 1.

The new district governor plans visits to Rotary clubs in this district on the following dates:

Columbiana on July 31, Salem on Aug. 8, Lisbon on Aug. 15, Canfield on Aug. 18, Sebring Aug. 29, East Palestine Aug. 21 and East Liverpool Oct. 31.

He is married to the former Edith Barnes of Salem. They have two sons, Fred W., Jr., and Richard.

Fred W. Lyons

Mr. Lyons is a Sigma Chi, a member of the Elks, Masons, Shrine, Youngstown Country Club and is treasurer of the Memorial Methodist Church in Poland.

Overpass Linked to Tax

Albert Lesch also spoke in favor of using income tax money to finance the job.

It was pointed out that the city would be left with serious problems if the people should bring up a referendum to abolish the income tax.

Also discussed was a section of the proposed city charter which would take away from Council the authority to enact any income tax or payroll tax without a vote of the public.

artificial respiration to the stricken men. A rescue squad dispatched by helicopter reached the scene approximately 15 minutes later.

Helicopters flew the most seriously injured men to the hospital, and trucks at the scene transported those who had been merely dazed by the bolt.

Capt. A. C. Mitchell, 2nd Division information officer, said the men were awaiting their turn to fire on the Jacelin-Handrich rifle range, when the storm swept over the northeast sector of the post.

He said the men were ordered to put on their raincoats and told to break formation and take cover.

"When they started to take cover, the lightning came very suddenly," Mitchell said.

The recruits were members of the 9th Infantry, 2nd Infantry Division.

There have been several cases in recent years of lightning striking soldiers training at Ft. Benning which is just outside of Columbus in southwest Georgia.

The parties represented at the rally were the leftist DPM and the Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD). Leaders of both groups only recently returned from exile.

Police sources said the understood DPM leaders have instructions from the Castro regime to infiltrate public meetings to promote disorders and riots.

Many black and red flags—Castro's colors—were seen during the political rally and rioting that followed.

Progress Report On Road Jobs Submitted

New highway construction contracts in Division 11 at the beginning of July totaled $22,469,164, according to Division Deputy Director William P. McKenna of the Ohio Department of Highways.

About 8 per cent completion is shown for the two-tenths of a mile relocation, including a new bridge, on Rt. 154 at Elkton in Columbiana County.

The 1.6 mile relocation of Rt. 46 between East Palestine and New Waterford is shown in the report as being 60 per cent complete.

Contractors are proceeding ahead of schedule with work on the 2.5 mile East Liverpool Expressway on Rt. 30. Work there is reported to be about 23 per cent complete.

McKenna noted that total mileage of the 18 projects in Division 11 comes to 29.9 miles.

IN MAYOR'S COURT

John Wayne Schmidt, 31, of Massillon forfeited a $25 bond in Mayor Dean Cranmer's court Friday for permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle.

The charter, which is being prepared for presentation to the public on the November ballot, came in for a verbal blasting from councilmen last night.

Abd said he didn't think Council needed to worry about the charter. "I'd bet a 100 to 1 that the charter won't pass," he remarked. "The people aren't that dumb."

The possibility of council voting in an "open-end" income tax ordinance was discussed. In such an ordinance, Council would pass the income tax without mentioning any expiration date. It would remain in effect until removed by a future council or by the public in a referendum.

Even if the proposed charter is accepted by the voters in November, it wouldn't knock out any income tax already in effect.

Melvin Rackoff of Columbus is special engineer for the project. It was brought out last night that the fee the engineer will be paid is based on a percentage of the total cost of the project and that the percentage would be the same no matter what engineer the city would have hired.

The question had been raised as to why competitive bids had not been taken when choosing the engineer.

Gates For Parking Lot?

Also discussed at last night's meeting was a suggestion by Mayor Cranmer that either an attendant, automatic gates or both be used instead of meters on the city's off-street parking lot being constructed on E. Pershing.

Council showed interest in the suggestion. The mayor said he believes it may be a good idea to try the gates or an attendant, instead of investing $12,000 for parking meters, until it is determined whether or not the lot will pay off. He pointed out that the city's off-street parking lot at the corner of S. Ellsworth and Pershing is averaging only about $24 a week from the meters which were installed there.

Councilman Koenreich said that the revenue might be better if the mayor would put up the signs which he told Council he would last March. It was mentioned that people coming here from out of town to shop probably don't even know there is a municipal parking lot. The signs would tell them where to find the lot.

night driving about 10 miles north of where the killing-kidnap took place.

He was one of several suspects and was sought only because the letters on his license plate, "CJ," were seen on the car of the killer.

"We were checking all CJ plates in Utah," said FBI spokesman Herbert Clegg.

Aragon had not been home for four days, authorities said.

Sheriff Albert Passic said Aragon had absolutely no police record and was a Navy Cross winner on Guam during World War II.

Clegg said, "Our agents spotted the car on the road, ordered it to pull over. Our agents got out and announced who they were and said they wanted to talk to him."

"He said, 'FBI? Prove it' and then placed a .22 caliber automatic pistol to his head and shot Sheriff Stocks said this morning. "We're trying to back track from his car now to find the girl."

A pair of shoes was found by the Colorado River, which runs through the area. They were similar to the red sneakers worn by Denise but Sheriff Stocks said he doubted whether they belonged to the girl.

Canfield Fair Premium Books Now Available

The 115th annual premium list for the Mahoning County Fair is ready for distribution, Grace E. Williams, executive secretary of Canfield Fair, announced today. The Premium List covers all 11 departments of the fair. There is a separate Junior Fair premium list.

Total premiums at the 1961 Canfield Fair will amount to $40,000 which is distributed over 55 classes which are eligible for premium awards.

Seeking to identify exhibitors who have shown a continuing interest by exhibiting at Canfield Fair over a period of 25 years or more, the board of directors are urging all long-time exhibitors to fill out the registration form which appears on page 23 in the Premium List. Such registrations should be returned to the secretary's office promptly.

"We are very eager," members of the board say, "to develop a list of those faithful exhibitors who have been with us over a period of many years."

Copies of the 1961 Premium List are available at the Canfield Fair Office, 12 W. Main St., or by writing to the Secretary at Box 27, Canfield.

mon carrier levies and highway patrol fines.

Other bills, already passed by the House and agreed to Friday by the Senate, would:

Let state - chartered building and loan associations invest up to 5 per cent of their assets or $1.5 million—whichever is less—in land developments like housing areas, etc. (33-1). Federally - chartered associations already may do so.

Make failure of a school board to notify a teacher who has just become eligible for a permanent contract equivalent to granting that contract (26-6).

Require trustees of police relief and pension funds to increase the allowance to a policeman's widow from $75 to $90 a month; makes it discretionary for trustees of firemen's funds to do the same for widows of firemen (33-2).

creasing them for loans above that amount. It also would have increased the amount small loan companies could lend from $1,000 to $2,000.

In his veto message, DiSalle said he would welcome the suggested under-$450 reduction, but thinks increases between $450 and $1,000 are higher than necessary.

He said small loan companies now charge about $76 to borrow 000. The vetoed bill would have increased the $76 to $80 and on up to an increase from $105.92 to $125, DiSalle asserted.

"I feel that it would impose an unnecessary burden on a class of borrowers who are already having great difficulty in meeting their obligations," he wrote.

mit the conference has come to a dead end. Technically, it still is in session.

The Soviet note was presented to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Wednesday and made public by the Soviets Friday.

At about the same time the U.S. reply was announced, an influential Republican senator told the Senate the United States can no longer delay resumption of its own weapons testing program.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said that during the almost three years that nuclear weapons tests have been suspended and the Geneva talks carried on, the Soviet Union may have gone ahead in secret on development of a neutron bomb—a completely new type of nuclear weapon.

Bridges is chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee. Officials say privately the United States is reluctant to resume nuclear weapons tests, fearing it would subject the country to severe criticism throughout the world.

Airway Between U.S., Russia to Get Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to start talks July 18 on a direct New York-Moscow commercial air route, the State Department announced today.

The establishment of such a route would provide the first direct air link between the two countries. Air travelers presently have to transfer at intermediate points when going from one nation to the other.

Similar talks had been scheduled to start last July 18 but the United States canceled them before they started after the Soviets fired on a U.S. RB47 reconnaissance bomber.

NEW KIWANIS HEAD — I. R. (Whitey) Withuhn of Milwaukee, Wis., was elected president of Kiwanis International at the service club's annual convention in Toronto, Canada, this week.

Go-Cart Track Must Be Paved, Is Ruling

LISBON — Over 20 Salem township residents near a Go-Cart track on the Rt. 45 Lisbon Road won a court case for a quiet and dust-free neighborhood Friday in common pleas court.

Judge Joel H. Sharp enjoined the operators — Ernest J. Cozza, Frank Cozza and Frederick Mix Jr. — from allowing the track to be used by any motor vehicle not equipped with an effective muffler.

He further enjoined the defendant from permitting operation of any muffler-equipped vehicle except on a paved track.

Petitioners from the track area near the junction of Route 45 and Teagarden Road testified that noise was oppressive on race days, and that clouds of dust raised by the miniature cars were carried to their homes by prevailing winds.
